Merlot Redbud

Cercis canadensis var. texensis 'NC2004-6' PP22297

A small flowering tree that adds dramatic color and contrast, 'Merlot' is beautiful as a specimen or informal hedge. A tough and elegant selection with its:

- Deeper purple new growth, maturing to burgundy and then deep green
- Thicker, glossier leaves and strong juvenile branch structure
- Compact size, perfect for our smaller urban gardens and patios

Adaptable, it grows well in most soils, including clay, and with Texas Redbud in its genes, it is more tolerant of heat and drought. Hummingbirds love it too!

Grey Horizon Emu Bush

Eremophila glabra 'EREM1' PP 29,275

This low-growing, wide spreading shrub has dense, blue-gray velvety foliage and a moderate display of yellow and orange flowers in spring. It is prized for its:

- Vigorous growth; establishes quickly in the landscape
- Compact and dense prostrate habit
- Drought and heat tolerance

An excellent choice for a groundcover that will add texture and contrast to the landscape with minimal maintenance required.

Kay Parris Southern Magnolia

Magnolia grandiflora 'Kay Parris'

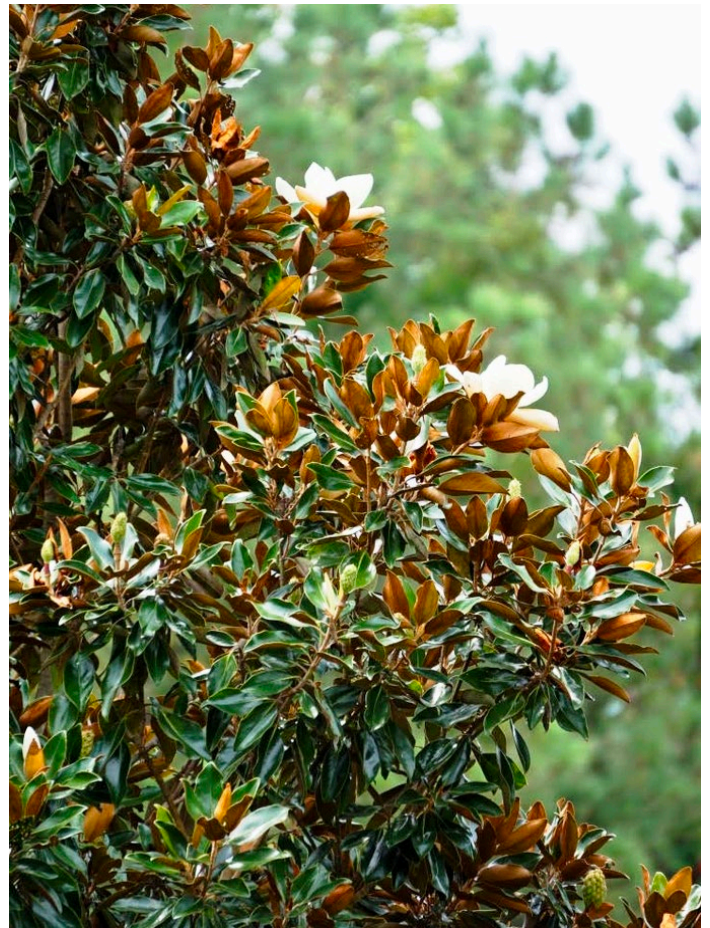

This small, evergreen Magnolia is more cold hardy with a longer bloom time than 'Little Gem'. It is a lush and beautiful selection with its:

- Large, showy and classically fragrant pure white blooms
- Glossy leaves with deep orange-brown, velvety undersides
- Compact size, perfect for our smaller urban gardens and patios

Versatile with its dense, pyramidal form, it will make an excellent focal point in the garden as well as a shiny living screen or hedge.

Garden Treasure Itoh Peony

Paeonia hybrid 'Garden Treasure'

An award-winning Itoh Peony, with large, semi-double, fragrant blooms that are sunny yellow turning bright scarlet toward the heart. A precious gem in the garden with its:

- Abundant production of large flowers on sturdy stems (50+ on a mature plant)
- Compact form for smaller urban spaces and containers
- Dark glossy green foliage that remains attractive throughout summer until late fall

Reliable and vigorous, this easy-care plant works well as a specimen and in groups for borders and beds. Resistant to deer and rabbits, it is highly attractive to butterflies!
